Let's Start!

Pronunciation Spot: Let's take a guided tour of San Francisco.

Learning Outcome

Accurately use information about directions to places in a limited range of social situations.

Can Do Statements

- I can say and use the long i sound.
- I can tell someone where something is located.
- I can identify key information in a short audio.

Ask your partner:

- If you are a tour guide, where would you take visitors in your city or town? Why?
- Which are the places in your city with some history?

Let's Explore!

Vanessa and Aunt Nelly are on a San Francisco bus tour. Listen to their conversation. Do you want to go, too?

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Aunt Nelly: This coast tour is a great way to see the sights of San Francisco. Which attractions would you like to see?
- Vanessa: The Golden Gate Bridge is amazing. I hope we can find a great place to take photographs near the water.
- Aunt Nelly: You must go on a cable car. They are an icon of San Francisco.
- Vanessa: Absolutely, I really want to see Alcatraz, too. The island prison is so cool and a little mysterious. Are you allowed inside?
- Aunt Nelly: No, it's closed. Did you know that prisoners tried to escape by swimming across the bay?
- Vanessa: Did any prisoners make it?
- Aunt Nelly: Yes, I think so. The famous mobster, Al Capone, spent many years in jail there.
- Vanessa: Really? That's neat.
- Aunt Nelly: One of my favorite movies was filmed in that prison, too. Birdman of Alcatraz ... starring Burt Lancaster.
- Vanessa: Who's that?
- Aunt Nelly: Oh, a very handsome actor from the 1950s. I had a crush on him.
- Vanessa: Oh, Aunt Nelly ... that's such a long time ago! You're so funny.

Let's Practice!

Time to practice the long i sound. Many words have the long i sound but are spelled differently.

Instructions: Read the words and sentences aloud.
