Let's Start!

These cookies are delicious! They're a family tradition!

Learning Outcome

Accurately use information about travel and vacations in social situations.

Ask your partner:

- What type of traditions do you follow?
Do you have a family tradition?
- What kind of desserts do you like?
Why?

Can Do Statements

- I can make and respond to suggestions.
- I can talk about food.
- I can give instructions or directions.

Let's Explore!

Aunt Nelly shares a family tradition* with Vanessa.

* A "family tradition" can be a recipe, or a special occasion practiced in a family over the years.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Vanessa: I can't wait to visit the Giovanelli Factory!

Aunt Nelly: You have a sweet tooth, just like me!

Vanessa: You should come with me! Let's look at the feedback form ... Oh! There's a chocolate cookie recipe at the back!

Aunt Nelly: I should tell you about our family tradition!

Vanessa: A secret recipe? I'd love to have it!

Aunt Nelly: So ... you need 4 ounces of chocolate, 1  $\frac{2}{3}$  cup of flour,  $\frac{1}{4}$  cup of sugar,  $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon of vanilla extract, 2 ounces of butter, and salt to taste. Place the ingredients in a bowl. Mix the ingredients together. Place 12 spoonfuls of the mixture on a baking tray. Bake for 10 minutes.

Vanessa: How hot should the oven be?

Aunt Nelly: It should be around 350 Fahrenheit. Be careful! Don't burn the cookies! They should be soft in the middle.

Vanessa: Now I'm hungry!

Let's Practice!

Let's bake some cookies! Follow the steps!

Learning Points

Measuring Food in North America

In the United States, people use the imperial system to measure food and ingredients.

| Imperial System        | Metric System       |
|------------------------|---------------------|
| 1 pound                | 454 grams           |
| 1 cup                  | 236 ml              |
| 1 teaspoon             | 5 ml                |
| 1 ounce                | 30 grams            |
| 212 degrees Fahrenheit | 100 degrees Celsius |
| 32 degrees Fahrenheit  | 0 degrees Celsius   |

Imperatives

Use the Imperative to give instructions.

The Imperative only has one form. The subject is you.

We often use the Imperative in recipes or cooking instructions.

Examples:

- Place the ingredients in a bowl.
- Mix the ingredients together.
- Don't burn the cookies!
